

Board of Honorary Advisors

Yelling Ant is Hiring

Finally. A board that makes sense. No private jets. No PowerPoints.
No Coldplay concert kiss cams.

We've built the world's first AI-native, culture-embracing social network — and we need you on the Board. Yes, you. Whether you're a parent, a teenage TikTok philosopher, a Divine Nine member, an auntie who knows the tea, an HBCU alum or student, a CEO who emails "reply all" by accident, or a member of the military — if you've got perspective & care about community, we're saving you a seat.

This is your invite to serve on the most meaningful board since Wakanda.

As a Yelling Ant Honorary Advisor, you'll help shape a platform that amplifies the voices too often ignored, the cultures too often borrowed from — then denied and diminished — and the humanity we all share. Your role will be real, culture-shifting, and enjoyable.

- You won't get stock options.
- You won't need to explain what "DAU" means.
- You will help guide a digital revolution.

TL;DR — Apply now ⇒ <http://Board.BuiltOnCulture.com>

Who We're Looking For

- Teachers who teach more than the test
- Grandparents who text in ALL CAPS
- College students who use emojis unironically
- Ministers who preach with humor
- Parents who manage the family with a smile
- Teens fluent in memes, vibes, and clout cycles
- Influencers who believe in purpose > platform
- Executives who open doors for others

Basically: Smart, thoughtful, culture-connected people who are unbought, unbossed, and unbothered by BS and believe The Best is Yet to Come.

Did You Know...

- 94% of Black Americans don't believe their community is authentically represented on social media?
- 73% of people-of-color have been harassed on social platforms due to their skin color/ethnicity?
- 91% of Black & Brown Americans believe that there is no safe space for them on social media?

Key Duties

- Attend once-a-quarter, short Zoom meetings (snacks welcome)
- Give real feedback ("Nah, that ain't it." / "Now you're talking.")
- Represent your people, your story, your community
- Make suggestions on new features
- Occasionally bless us with a rant, a vision, or a playlist

Optional, but dope if you're down

- Appear in Yelling Ant videos, podcasts, or memes
- Help us test features before they go live
- Drop one quote a year that makes us rethink everything

Requirements (Kind of)

- Strong opinions and good WiFi
- Fluent in sarcasm, emoji, auntie wisdom, Gen-Z slang, or business speak
- Able to disagree without dismembering

Perks (This Ain't a Paid Gig, But Still...)

- "Board of Honorary Advisors" digital badge
- Early access to features and events
- Shoutouts on the platform and podcast invites
- Your name listed on YellingAnt.com as a Founding Advisor — forever
- Access to the secret email address just for Real Ones

Application's Questions include...

- Who are you, really?
- What do you bring to the culture table?
- Best advice you've given or received?
- What's one thing you'd banish from the internet?

Interview Process

If selected, you'll go through our fun 3 step team-joining process. You'll be notified after each step.

Step 1: Show Up. 60-second voice note or video.

Step 2: Speak Up. We send a real-world situation; you give your take.

Step 3: Team Up. A short conversation on Zoom with one of our co-founders.

Apply now ⇒ <http://Board.BuiltOnCulture.com>